ALL PURPOSE MANUFACTURED HOME PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The American Reliable All Purpose Manufactured Home program is designed for homes owned as rental homes or for light commercial use. A rental home is one that is owned by the insured but occupied by others for residential purposes. A manufactured home used for light commercial use is one used for limited office or professional purposes. Up to 20 units can be scheduled on an application and up to 10 on a quote.

Policy Form: American Reliable uses the A5013P0511 Massachusetts All Purpose Mobile Home Policy for this program.

HUD Manufactured Home Code and Construction Standards:

Manufactured homes are homes built as dwelling units of at least 320 square feet in size with a permanent chassis to assure the initial and continued transportability of the home. All transportable sections of manufactured homes built in the U.S. after June 15, 1976 must contain a certification label. The label certifies that the manufacturer has built the home in accordance with HUD's Manufactured Home Construction and Safety Standards (the Standards). The Standards covers Body and Frame Requirements, Thermal Protection, Plumbing, Electrical, Fire Safety and other aspects of the home, published under 24 CFR Part 3280.

Manufactured homes have to be built to strict HUD Code standards. They are built in controlled factory environments and are tested and inspected by HUD for construction, strength, durability, design, fire resistance, energy efficiency, and performance of internal systems. Each and every manufactured home is inspected by a HUD inspector at every factory. No manufactured home leaves the factory without a red HUD tag attached to the rear that certifies it has passed HUD's standards.

Strict Standards require flame spread and smoke generation limits in materials, escape windows in all bedrooms, smoke detectors, and at least two exterior doors which must be located apart from each other and reachable through unlocked doors only. For storm protection, each manufactured home sold must include installation instructions to properly support and anchor the home.
